

Budgeting...

Balancing accounts...

Maximize your finances!!!

Principle 1: It's not what you make but what you keep that determines financial success. Pay yourself first and save what you pay yourself.

Principle 2: Money is a gift. It has a specific use. This means that you have a stewardship. You are to use your money for something that matters for your family and beyond.

Principle 3: Live within your means.
Always. No exceptions. Period.
Follow a good budget. Give each spouse a small allowance so you have a little discretionary money each month and don't nitpick each other on the little things.

Principle 4: Stop getting financial advice from broke people. Get it only from those whose finances you want to emulate.

Principle 5: Consistently budget and save for unexpected expenses.

Principle 6: Using your time, money, and talents to genuinely help others naturally increases your happiness, but seeking money in order to fulfill your stewardship and serve and bless others automatically increases it.
